● Endless Adventures Await with Big Duck

In this issue, we're highlighting some of the incredible places our customers could take their Big Duck.

Built for adventure, the Big Duck is an inflatable dinghy designed to go wherever the day leads. Whether it's being used as a tender to reach secluded islands, heading out for a fishing trip, chasing the perfect sunset, or simply spending time on the water with friends, it's a versatile companion that does it all.

This edit is all about the experiences, showcasing how and where the Big Duck comes to life

Lake Somerset, Queensland

Lake Somerset is a wide freshwater playground in southeast Queensland, offering endless space for boating, fishing, and waterside adventure. With your Big Duck, it's perfect for exploring open water, fishing along the shoreline, or simply cruising between scenic bays and day-use areas.

Popular spots like Kirkleagh, The Spit, Somerset Park, and Westvale provide easy access to the lake, with designated swimming areas and plenty of space to launch and explore. From relaxed days on the water to action-packed fishing trips, it's a destination built for making the most of your Big Duck.

Ningaloo Reef, Western Australia

Discover the vibrant marine world of Ningaloo Reef, where crystal-clear waters and incredible wildlife are just metres from shore. With a Big Duck, you can launch straight from the beach to snorkel shallow coral gardens, explore nearby waters, or head out fishing along one of Australia's most spectacular coastlines.

This World Heritage-listed reef is home to hundreds of fish and coral species, with opportunities to encounter whale sharks, manta rays, turtles, and more. Depending on the season, you might even witness humpback whales migrating or turtle hatchlings making their way to the sea.

From relaxed beach days to on-water adventure, Ningaloo is the perfect place to use your Big Duck as a tender, fishing boat, or explore-and-discover craft—right in the heart of an unforgettable coastal paradise.

Surfers Paradise, Queensland

Surfers Paradise offers an iconic Gold Coast backdrop where city skyline meets calm, sheltered waterways. With your Big Duck, it's perfect for cruising the canals at sunset, exploring relaxed inland waterways, or taking in waterfront homes and vibrant evening colours from the water.

With over 260 kilometers of navigable canals, there's plenty of space to explore at your own pace, whether that's a relaxed cruise, a casual fishing session along the edges, or simply drifting through quieter stretches away from the busy surf beaches. It's also an easy launch point for caravan trips and weekend getaways, making it a standout spot for laid-back adventure on the water.

Athol Beach, Sydney

Athol Beach sits tucked within Sydney Harbour, offering calm waters and iconic city views.

Your Big Duck is perfect for exploring hidden coves, enjoying relaxed harbour cruising, or using as a tender while anchored nearby. It's a unique way to experience one of the world's most famous harbours.

Lake Eildon, Victoria

Lake Eildon National Park is the ultimate playground for on-water adventure, surrounded by the stunning backdrop of the Victorian Alps. With a Big Duck, it's the perfect place to explore—whether you're cruising the shoreline, fishing quiet inlets, or using it as a tender to access hidden camping spots.

Set up camp and enjoy days filled with boating, swimming, canoeing, and exploring the vast lake system at your own pace. From sunrise launches to sunset drifts, it's a destination made for making the most of life on the water.

Beyond the lake, bushwalking trails and scenic lookouts offer incredible views, while the surrounding parklands are home to native wildlife, making every trip a true escape into nature.

Dingo Beach, Queensland

Dingo Beach is a relaxed coastal township on the Whitsunday Coast, known for its long sandy shoreline, clear waters, and laid-back atmosphere. With your Big Duck, it's perfect for launching straight from the beach to explore nearby waters, go fishing, or cruise along the coastline at your own pace.

Set on Edgecumbe Bay near Hydeaway Bay, it's a great stop for caravan and camping trips, with calm conditions ideal for easy boating and relaxed days on the water. The area also offers access to the northern Whitsunday waters, making it a great base for fishing adventures, snorkelling spots, or simply unwinding by the beach after a day on the water.
